LOCAL FUND NOW
IN STATE'S HANDSAlbany's Proceeds Of Bond Issue Sent
To Treasurer

The $100,000 fund, voted by citizens of Albany and Decatur as the share of the two cities in the bridge building movement, now is in the hands of the state.

The proceeds of the City of Albany's bond issue was sent to the capitol Friday by Thomas A. Bowles, city treasurer, acting on instructions given Thursday evening at a special meeting of the Albany city council.

The Decatur fund was transmitted to the state's account some days ago, the turning over of the fund completes the municipality's share of the efforts for financing the project.

Circus Enjoyed
By Large Crowds

The two performances of John Robinson's circus here Friday afternoon and evening, were enjoyed by large crowds and the show was declared by many to have been one of the best ever seen here in many years, the local acts being particularly good.

Officers today commented on the exceptionally good behavior maintained during the day by the large crowds present on the streets.

FLORENCE, Ala., Sept. 12.—Twenty thousand kilowatts of electric energy, generated at Wilson Dam by waters of the Tennessee river, today were turned into the transmission lines of the Alabama Power company. Major General Harry Taylor, chief of army engineers, personally started the machinery which started another stage in the harnessing of the river.

On August 29 the first turbine was tested and since that time machinery has gone through a tuning up process.

The energy generated by the waters of the river, coupled with that of the government's steam plant today approximated 85,000 kilowatts, close to the capacity of the transmission line.

There were no ceremonies connected with the event for which Valley inhabitants had been looking forward for many years.

General Taylor inspected the dam and then joined other officers at the power house and the generators were put to work. General Taylor will remain on the reservation until tomorrow. He is making a complete study to ascertain what additional power may be developed at this time.

Power from Muscle Shoals is being transmitted over lines of the power company.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 12.—A negro arrested by Patrolman Kirk Denton early this morning in North Nashville attacked the officer while being searched for weapons and escaped, after Denton had fired three shots at him. The negro wrenched the pistol from the patrolman's hand and ran. He did not fire.

The officer fired at close range and reported he believed the negro was wounded in the abdomen.

The incident occurred in the section which recently had become alarmed over reports of a night prowler.

Plans Reported To Be Working Well

The celebration here Thursday of the formal beginning of work on the Tennessee river bridge at this point is attracting wide attention and already Albany and Decatur are receiving much beneficial publicity.

The celebration will be attended by scores of prominent citizens of Alabama and Tennessee, the bridge serving as a link to connect the highway systems of the two states. All communities along the route of the Bee Line highway are indicating deep interest in the bridge project.

The various committees in charge of the details for the affair today were reported to have their plans well in hand. The invitation committee already has received scores of acceptances to invitations extended prominent visitors to attend both the celebration program itself and the banquet on the evening of September 17, which is the culminating feature of the day's events.

Several Sunday papers will carry extended stories about the plans. Among the press comments of the past 24 hours were:

From the Birmingham News:

"I have an invitation to attend the celebration on the occasion of the proposed bridge building over the Tennessee river at Albany-Decatur the coming week and I am planning to go, anticipating an interesting time and meeting people from all parts of the state," said Walter Moore, Gov. Brandon, Lieut. Gov. McDowell, Judge Mayfield, John H. Bankhead, A. G. Patterson and many others now prominent in the eyes of the state have been heard from as planning to be there, and I feel sure that it will be a gathering of well known citizens, men who are interested really in road building, bridge building and other means of transportation. I understand that a ride will be taken to Muscle Shoals, the roads between Albany-Decatur and Muscle Shoals now being in good condition. It looks to me as if the gathering next week will be a memorable occasion."

T. H. Alexander's column in The Nashville Tennessean:

There is a great deal of interest throughout all of Tennessee in the new bridge over the Tennessee river at Albany-Decatur, Ala. The Tennessee river is strictly our river, it rises in East Tennessee, we lend it for a brief space to Alabama where it goes tumbling down through Muscle Shoals and the river comes back to us to form the geographical barrier between Middle and West Tennessee on its placid way north. It is a loving arm we throw down across our sister state, but it comes back as all Tennesseans come back to the Volunteer state.

The beginning of work on the new bridge will be celebrated Sept. 17 at a great mass meeting of Alabama and Tennessee citizens. It may well be celebrated for the building of the bridge, with the improvement of the north and south highway links in Kentucky, removes the greatest barriers to travel on the much used Bee Line highway.

If the state of Tennessee will now bridge the river between Nashville and Memphis and in East Tennessee, the Tennessee river will be conquered.

From the Colbert County Reporter: The people of Decatur and Albany will hold a state-wide meeting next

The Noel Affair(Associated Press)
NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 12.—With four indictments returned in New Jersey against Harrison W. Noel, lawyer's son and confessed son and kidnapper of six year old Mary Daly, the resignation is sought of Dr. J. W. Thompson, physician of the Overbrook, N. J., asylum for defectives, from which Noel escaped two months ago.

The demand is made by the Essex county board of freeholders which declares that Dr. Thompson granted a virtual parole to Noel, without knowledge or consent of his superiors.

Another New Jersey kidnapping has developed with the arrest of Lawrence Wright a negro, at Warren's Point. He was found walking in the woods with a six year old orphan girl and was accused of taking the girl from her grandmother's home in a taxi cab.

Wright was released last June from the state's prison at Trenton, after serving five years. He pleaded not guilty to kidnapping when arrested and was held in jail without bail for the grand jury. The girl was unharmed.

Fairfield Death(Associated Press)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 12.—While there is no immediate arrest expected, the baffling murder mystery surrounding the killing of Policeman Coleman, at Fairfield Wednesday, Chief Y. L. Anthony, chief of Fairfield police, said today that the net is getting tighter and tighter.

Mayor M. W. Pratt, Fairfield, said Sheriff T. J. Shirley, of Jefferson county, was investigating reports of a bootlegging ring, which Officer Coleman was reported to have been probing. The theory that Coleman was murdered because of his supposed investigation of a liquor ring was discredited by Chief Anthony.

Mayor Pratt said that Officer Coleman had been appointed by Chief Anthony and that his appointment had been affirmed. The mayor repeated a statement made by J. W. Brooks, head of the city council, denying that Coleman was a special officer.

It had been stated that Coleman was hired by the city of Fairfield to investigate a bootleg ring and that the officer was shot in order to halt this investigation.

Officer Coleman was murdered on the steps of Shaw's rooming house, where he lived. Neither motive nor clues have been established by the investigating officers.

Chief Anthony is leading the murder probe, assisted by the sheriff's forces.

Andrew G. Patterson, North Alabama's leading candidate for governor in the cities today for a short while on business declared that he approved the suggestion, originated by W. W. Fusell, local banker, that the Tennessee River bridge be named in honor of W. S. Keller, deceased highway official. Mr. Patterson leaves this afternoon for Falkville where he will celebrate his 48th birth anniversary at the home of his father M. F. Patterson.

Speaking of the suggestion for the naming of the new bridge as a memorial to the fallen official, Mr. Patterson said, "I think the suggestion that the bridge be named in honor of W. S. Keller is a fitting and proper tribute to the memory of a self sacrificing and as able a road engineer as the south has ever produced. I can say these things because I have been associated with Mr. Keller and I know his regard for the duty to his state."

Mr. Patterson expects to return to Montgomery early in the week and to make a return trip to these cities on Thursday to attend the celebration ceremonies to be held on that date.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 12.—Special Governor Austin Peay of Tennessee today commissioned T. H. Alexander, member of the editorial staff of the Nashville Tennessean, as the representative of the State of Tennessee at the ceremonies September 17, incident to the building of the Albany-Decatur bridge across the Tennessee river.

The Governor wrote W. A. Bibb of Albany, chairman of the invitation committee that he will be unable to attend the meeting because of the gathering in Memphis on the same date of the state board of equalization, but that he has delegated Mr. Alexander a native of Alabama and a former resident of Albany, to attend the meeting and make a speech on behalf of Tennessee.

Methodist Pastor

Reverend James D. Hunter, pastor of the Central Methodist church, and family have returned after a month's visit spent in southeast Alabama and southern Georgia. Reverend Hunter will fill his pulpit at the church at Sunday services after being absent for the past month.

Reverend Hunter said today that crop and weather conditions in the northern section of Alabama are the best that he has seen in any section of the state in which he has been visiting.

He declared that the trip was very pleasant with the exception of the illness of his little son, Hugh Oliver. The condition of the child is now improved.

MERCURY DROPS TO

Be Helped, But Not
The Cotton Crop

The drought has been broken in North Alabama and in Albany and Decatur citizens Saturday were grateful for their escape from the clutches of a heat wave, which had gripped the cities for several days.

Mrs. A. H. Irons, government observer, announced shortly after noon that the mercury had dropped to 80, as compared with a record of 104 on Wednesday. Rainfall Friday and last night had totaled seventeen hundredths of an inch up to the time of calculation this morning. Some rain had fallen since that time.

While the drought was ended by the heavy shower Friday afternoon and Saturday morning early, observers were of the opinion that sufficient rain had not fallen to restore normal conditions to the farms of this section.

Wells which have gone dry during the period of dryness will not be raised to their usual levels unless rain continues for a week or two, they declared. The Tennessee river was not likely to be affected greatly by the rains of the two days.

Farmers declared that some of the late crops and the hay crop probably had been helped materially by the rain, but were inclined to believe no great benefit had accrued to the cotton crop. They pointed out that maturity this year has been so early that many of the fields already are more than half picked. They did not believe that the showers would cause much additional fruiting.

DAMAGE NOT SEVERE

DETROIT Sept. 12.—Wind and rain storms that swept through lower Michigan last night are not believed to have caused as much damage as was first reported. Telephone companies were the principal losers, many poles being blown down with resulting wire trouble.

Lightning set fire to several trees and poles crashed over the highways.

DROUGHT BROKEN

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 12.—Reports reaching here today indicated Alabama's drought and heat wave which hit record temperatures have been effectually smashed by scattered rains and gentle winds.

Rain is falling about Birmingham and reports say a slow drizzle was general at Montgomery. At Huntsville, in the upper section of the state, rain has fallen gently all day. Other sections were not so well favored, notably Selma, which city reported the sun was shining.

The weather forecast and immediate outlook, however, favored a soaking for most of the state before sundown.

HUNTSVILLE IS DESERVING OF THE VALLEY'S HEARTIEST CONGRATULATIONS

The Daily so often has remarked that what helps one section of the Valley helps all other sections, that it feels almost like reserving for the Twin Cities some of the congratulations it would extend to Huntsville on the opening of its handsome new country club.

In fact the opening of the beautiful new country club at Huntsville really is another instance of how one community is helped by another. We built a country club here, now Huntsville has built a larger one. Some day we will improve ours, then Huntsville perhaps will find even its present commodious quarters inadequate, and enlarge. Thus go the wheels of progress.

With the opening of the Huntsville golf and country club, Huntsville can justly boast of having probably one of the largest and best fitted club of its kind in the world, in a city of corresponding size. Some of the Florida development centers, where the erection of a country club seems to be a popular manner of launching a new subdivision, may have more beautiful country clubs than has Huntsville, but our sister city certainly has little to fear in comparison with the majority of communities.

Those who made the Huntsville club possible have placed a rare asset at the hands of their home city and to them and to the people of Huntsville The Daily extends its warmest congratulations.

CONSTITUTION WEEK OBSERVED BY THE KIWANIS CLUBS OF AMERICA

In line with its general effort to promote a more enlightened citizenship in America, Kiwanis clubs of the entire United States will observe the week beginning September 13, and ending September 19, as "Constitution Week."

In the local club a special program has been arranged for the mid-week meeting. Through this meeting, various speakers and numberless channels, the Morgan Kiwanis club hopes next week to do its full part toward bringing to the attention of this citizenship the necessity for serious consideration of the responsibilities and privileges of citizenship, placed upon us and guaranteed to us by the keystone of the whole American government—the constitution.

The local club, in this movement, joins with 1340 other Kiwanis clubs in carrying out a program emphasizing the need for the schools and the community to give more thought and study to the fundamental principles of the municipal, state and national government.

The constitution of the United States is the most remarkable, and, at the same time the sanest governmental document ever penned. To the written provisions of its sagacious framers the American government owes its very existence. It does seem that it would be as little as latter-day Americans could do to make themselves familiar with its provisions and to abide by them.

The Kiwanis club has been engaged, from time to time, in many worthwhile movements, but few which have been more important than its effort to promote a more enlightened, and, therefore, a better citizenship.

START WORK OF PREPARING ALABAMA'S EXHIBITS IN TIME

The Albany-Decatur Daily suggests that Alabama should begin now to prepare for the next Southern Exposition in New York. The exposition will be held from September 27 to October 6, 1926, and a year in advance is not too soon to start work preparing for this state's exhibits in the great show of Southern progress. It is remembered that although Alabama started late in preparing for the exhibit in the recent Southern Exposition, it won first honors in it. This fact should not, however, lead this state to postpone preparations for the next Exposition.

The Albany-Decatur Daily gives some suggestions along this line saying:

Despite the fact that up to a late hour, it was doubtful whether or not Alabama would have proper representation in the Southern exposition in New York this year, the state finally entered and on merit alone won first place.

Alabama should not run the same risk next year.
The state should begin now to plan for her exhibit at the show, which will open on September 27, and continue through October 6, 1926, in Grand Central Palace at New York.

Alabama cannot afford to forget that other Southern states are beginning to get their exhibits ready now. There is no reason why this state should be forced to overcome a handicap of time. We will not if the various chambers of commerce, community officials and newspapers over the state will begin and continue agitation of the matter. The question must be kept before the people, for every Alabamian desires this state to repeat and win next year's coveted first place.

What tremendous possibilities in a publicity way can be seen in such an eventuality!

Alabama is reaping a rich reward from the showing made in the first Exposition and the attention of the outside world now is directed toward this state as it never has been before. Another creditable showing of Southern resources and progress, such as was made before, would help greatly to put this state at the top of the list of progressive, growing, prosperous states, and that is where all Alabamians wish to see the state placed.
By all means the work of preparing Alabama's exhibit in the next Southern Exposition should be started early.

WAYS OF DOGS ARE CURIOUS, ONE GOES TO CHURCH, ANOTHER TO BASEBALL GAME

There comes a story out of Sherwood, Tennessee, regarding a curious trait of a dog, which would be difficult to believe had not more or less of a similar case been observed here.

The Young Churchman says:

In Sherwood, a little town in Tennessee, lies a dog who evidently considers himself an Episcopalian. It is a matter of free-will, for his owners belong to that curious sect known as "Holy Rollers." He lives about half a mile from Epiphany mission, and goes about his own dogish affairs on Sunday until the second bell rings from the tower of the mission church. There are two other church bells in the town, both ring on Sunday morning, but Buddy never makes a mistake. The instant the second Episcopal bell rings, he starts a run down the main street of the town, enters Epiphany church, goes quietly up the aisle, and lies down just inside the sanctuary, remaining quietly there until the close of the service.

He started the church-going habit about two years ago, and never missed a Sunday and has never supplied any explanation as to why he prefers that church, or, indeed, why he goes to church at all. No one interferes with him, and our mission worker there says that she thinks his example has been beneficial. One clergyman who visited Epiphany said that it is too bad Buddy is a dog, as he would be a valuable member of the parish if he were human.

Younger residents of the Twin Cities, who find it hard to believe the story in its entirety, might find some of this difficulty dissolved by the story of "One Gone," rather a noted, if worthless, citizen of the dog world here some few years ago.

"One Gone" originally made his habitat somewhere in close proximity to the Albany city hall. In his declining years, he adopted the idea that "wherever he hung his hat was home sweet home to him" and, while he continued to spend much of his time at the city hall, he found interesting places to explore in many sections of the city.

"One Gone," friend of all and foe of none, received rather more than his share of public attention, but he was an unusual dog and the acclamation showered upon him, particularly from the young folks, was deserved.

While the Sherwood dog acknowledges the summons of the church bell by attending services, "One Gone's" pet diversion was attending the baseball games played at Cooper-Wells field. How the dog knew when a game was scheduled and when one was not, nobody ever ascertained, but the sagacious canine was as regular in his attendance as the ticket taker. He never missed. When there was no game at the park looking for "One Gone" there was as useless as two wrist watches to a one-armed man. The reverse was true when the team was at home.
"One Gone" had some sixth sense which told him when the umpire would call "play."

Verily the traits of dogs are curious—and some human beings are constructed on much the same order.

A TRAIN OF THOUGHTS for the Sabbath and Other Days

BY J. E. BLAIR

"The evil appearances that shadow our young people" give a faithful Christian much concern, according to a letter addressed to the writer of "A Train of Thoughts." And like all well meaning persons the writer desired to know a remedy for such a situation. The most business like "cold blooded" answer is: "Avoid even the appearance of evil," young people, IF YOU DO NOT WISH TO BE OVERSHADOWED BY EVIL. A more patient and a more loving answer is: "They that dwell in the secret place of the Most High, shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty!" That scripture standing alone is the best possible answer to the appreciative reader of "A Train of Thoughts." A proper apprehension of the promise that God Himself and not EVIL shall overshadow those who make Him their dwelling place—is enough. If the human race had made God its dwelling place in all generations, we would not need to ask each other, "Do you know the Lord?" The faithful inquirer would not have had to ask about how to remove the shadow of sin from our young people. In other words if that favorite prayer, "Lord, Thou who has been our dwelling place in all generations," could be applied to every human being, there would be no need of strife, no need of concern, and there would have been no need of the inquirer in question suggesting further on in the letter that the parents of children were to be blamed for their children being "overshadowed" by sin. But somehow, some way, for some reason God has allowed sin, and strange to say He has also allowed Godless parents to keep on bringing innocent children into the world! But we must not question God. It would be foolish to do so, besides it would be wrong. It would indicate that we were not willing to "endure hardness, as a good soldier" to quote from the writings of St. Paul. Paul says, "Endure hardness, as a good soldier." The parents are to blame, if sin overshadows their off-spring, that is to say if we believe the Bible—if we believe in the God of the Scriptures, who says that He shows mercy to thousands who keep His commands and that the sins of the parents are visited upon the children even to the third and fourth generation!
Also, the Bible shows where God saves by whole households where He is able to get the parents right. So the whole inquiry of that delightfully appreciative correspondent takes us again to the chosen text of the present writing, "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High, shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty." And when it comes down to shrewd horse sense as to how to avoid the sin that doth so easily beset, we will say this, "Avoid even the appearance of evil."

HOW EDISON DOES WITH 4-HOURS REST

There Must Be Enough Repose in a Well-Ventilated Dark Room to Give a Sense of Rejuvenation to the Average Person.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Habit has a lot to do with it. If your parents have insisted that you rise at 6:30 and you have kept up that practice, you are not able to keep your eyes shut after that hour. On the other hand, if nine o'clock is your regular breakfast hour, you will think you are killed if you have to catch a train at seven.

Most early risers go to bed early.
Nine to six is nine hours. Nine to five is eight hours and the hardest workers never get up before that, except possibly for a few months during the rush season.

Country people look askance upon the late hours of city folks and yet, the truth is, both classes get about the same length of time in bed.
Eight hours or even nine is the rule of most Americans.

I were to lay down a hard and fast rule for the human family, I should fix eight hours as the minimum. Most of us would do very well on eight hours and, in my opinion, it is a rare person who requires less.
Personally I should hate to be pinned down to that number. Every once in a while I want two or three extra hours.

As I have observed Mr. Edison, it strikes me he knows how to relax.
Brief and, perhaps to him, unconscious periods of more or less complete relaxation make up for the sleep he does not take. There is no doubt people differ a great deal in their personal mannerisms and characteristics. If you drum the table with your fingers, tap your foot, cross and uncross your legs, twirl your thumbs, bite your nails, twitch your shoulders, play with your knife and fork, wiggle and twist in your chair—all these things wear out your body. They are silly and unnecessary habits which sap your energy.

Mr. Edison does not do these things. He conserves his mental and physical reserve, using it for useful purposes only. He can get along with four hours of sleep, but you and I are not so sensible, so we need more sleep.

Jack Dempsey is not so frugal in his demands. He uses great chunks of physical strength. He wears out three or four times the energy Mr.

Edison does. It is not so delicately and nicely applied, so the Wizard accomplishes for humanity results which count for more in the long run. But in the ring, Dempsey, too, is a wizard.

Each of us must decide for himself how much sleep is essential. Certainly, there must be enough to give a sense of refreshment. Regular hours for sleeping and sleeping in a well-ventilated, quiet and dark room are the real essentials.

Answers to Health Queries

G. G. Q.—What do you advise for frost-bitten fingers and heels?

A.—Paint the sore spots once a day with the following preparation: Iodine crystals, 5 grs., ether, 2 drachms, collodion, 1 ounce. I would also suggest wearing lighter shoes and stockings while indoors. Do not expose your hands or feet to extreme heat after being out in the extreme cold.

MRS. J. G. F. Q.—What will cure blackheads?

A.—What will cure poor intestinal elimination?

3.—Is there any cure for bunions?

A.—Correct the diet by cutting down on sugar, starches and coffee.
Be sure to have regular intestinal elimination. For further particulars kindly send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2.—Have your meals at regular intervals. Eat simple, well-cooked food. For further particulars kindly send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

3.—Bunions may be somewhat relieved by wearing a broad-toed shoe.
However, try to keep pressure from the great joint. For further particulars kindly send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

CHESTER JOHNSTON IN AIR ACCIDENT

Aviator Flying With Fire Marshall Has Forced Landing

(Associated Press)
JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 12.—Lieutenant W. S. Robertson, United States army, flying from Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala., to Kelly Field, San Antonio, made a forced landing about ten miles north of Jackson this morning.

Both the aviator and his passenger, C. E. Johnston, fire marshal of Alabama, escaped unhurt. The propeller was broken and it will take several days to make repairs.

Mr. Johnston was on his way to San Antonio to attend the annual convention of the fire marshals of the United States and was on the program to deliver the response to the address of welcome from Governor "Ma" Ferguson.

Second Crop Of Peaches Is Grown

Growth of the second crop of peaches this year is the unusual record made by trees at the home of John Schuler, 1508 Fifth avenue South. The trees bore well earlier in the season and the fruit was gathered. The long hot period of weather is supposed to have caused the second crop. Peaches on the trees now are small but have ripened.

PARENT-TEACHERS LOOKING TOWARD A SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Local Bodies Trying To Effect Closer Relationship

CAMPAIGN WILL BE MAPPED OUT

Article From Times Gives Parents a Few Pointers

With the return of school days in the Twin Cities, the Parent-Teachers Associations of both cities are preparing and planning for the most successful year the organization has ever had. Mrs. Vera Austelle is head of the Decatur Parent-Teacher association this year while Mrs. J. L. Proctor president of the Albany organization both are planning a campaign looking toward the betterment of school conditions and a closer relationship between the parents and teachers looking toward advancement of children.

The following article from the New York Times of Sunday September 6, gives a few ideas of parents who wish to co-operate with the associations in gaining the best advantages for the school children.

The United Parents' Associations of Greater New York schools have issued a list of fourteen suggestions to parents as a means of aiding children to start the new school year right.

"Many of the difficulties which beset children could be avoided if their parents understood the school's better and realized how much their co-operation helps," the associations say. The suggestions follow:

Arrange the breakfast and lunch hours so that there is no rushing at home or at school.

Encourage punctuality and regular attendance, not permitting trifles to interfere.

See that the children are dressed simply, neatly, modestly and suitably in accordance with the weather.

Insist upon children under 14 having at least ten hours sleep.

Find out how much time should be devoted to home work and see that it is faithfully done.

Provide a quiet place for home study, with good light and ventilation. Prevent interruptions as far as possible.

Show an interest in the children's school work, athletics and other activities.

Visit the classroom during open school week and at other times for a better understanding.

Do not criticize the teachers or school at all within the children's hearing. Always hear both sides of every question and ask the teacher about it.

Instill in the children habits of obedience and respect for authority.

Picture the school as a happy, desirable place rather than as one children should dread.

Keep in mind that the school offers unlimited opportunities to those who take advantage of them, parents as well as pupils.

A school survey has been undertaken. The results of the investigation should be highly informative to parents. Watch for reports on it.

Plan to meet other parents in the school. It will help you understand your children better. Mothers should arouse the interest of fathers in the school activities and get their co-operation.

If there is a parents' association in your children's school, join it. If there is none, why not form one? Intelligent cooperation brings splendid results to all. The information bureau of the United Parents' Associations of Greater New York schools, 152 West-Forty-second street, Room 307, is available to all.

Rev. James D. Wallace will return home on Saturday from Chattanooga and will occupy his pulpit on Sunday.

Arthur Dix left on Friday to resume his studies at Howard College in Birmingham.

Suspect Held In Probe Of Blaze

(Associated Press)

DORA, Ala., Sept. 12.—J. M. Crenshaw is in jail at Jasper without bond, following an investigation by Walker county authorities of a fire which wiped out half of Dora's business district early Thursday morning.

Crenshaw was proprietor of Crenshaw's cafe, one of the dozen buildings burned. County Solicitor Nettles and Sheriff Kilgore conducted an investigation late yesterday.
